POSTCARD

The world we leave behind is shaped by the choices we make today. This Postcard invites students to look beyond the present, imagine life in 2046, and reflect on the environmental challenges that future generations may face. Through their creative 'Messages from 2046', students will share their hopes for a better world, exchange ideas with peers across the globe, and explore how small actions today can lead to meaningful changes tomorrow.

Join us for a thought-provoking discussion as we share our artwork and ask ourselves: "What kind of world are we leaving behind, and what can we do today to make it better?" We look forward to imagining a brighter, more sustainable future together!

Pre-work: Imagine it is the year 2046. Create an imaginative artwork on A4 paper with the title, 'A Message from 2046', focusing on one issue: food, water, waste, biodiversity, pollution or green spaces. Show the world you hope to see and share what people today should change to make that future possible.
