CLIMATE REFUGEES

POSTCARD

Climate change is a defining global challenge, giving rise to climate refugees across all inhabited continents. Rising sea levels, extreme weather and environmental degradation are forcing communities to leave their homes, intensifying inequality and injustice between nations. In this postcard session, students will examine the causes and consequences of climate-induced migration and reflect on the ethical responsibilities of governments and global institutions. Linked to the Round Square IDEALS, especially Leadership, Internationalism and Environmentalism — the discussion will encourage informed action, sustainable lifestyles and passionate leadership in addressing climate migration humanely and collaboratively.
