HEADLINES and HOAXES

HOW DO WE FIND
REAL NEWS IN TODAY'S WORLD?

POSTCARD

Every day, we're surrounded by information. From social media and news websites to videos and AI-generated content, it can be difficult to know what is true and what isn't. In a world where information travels faster than ever, learning how to think critically has become one of the most important skills we can develop.

In this postcard, we'll explore how misinformation spreads, why people believe and share false information, and the simple questions we can ask to become more informed digital citizens.

Together, we'll discover how asking questions, checking sources, and listening to different perspectives can help us navigate today's information landscape and become responsible global citizens.

We are looking forward to you joining us on the call,
