Culture and Leadership

POSTCARD

In our discussion, we will talk about the true importance of understanding culture around the world, and if this is key or not for future leaders.

We also want to understand how your culture has defined leadership, society and morals.

Have you been able to explore cultures? Have they taught you about leaders around the world? Do you think you should know more about societies? Would you like to know more?

We are looking forward to your participation.
