ROUND SQUARE

POSTCARD

This Zoom Postcard will bring students from different Round Square schools together to share ideas, experiences and everyday choices that can make a difference to our environment. Through conversations, questions, and examples from their own lives, students will explore how small actions at home, at school, or in their communities can lead to bigger positive changes. The session will be a chance to listen to different perspectives, learn from one another, and discover that sustainability does not always have to start with something big. Sometimes, it begins with one small choice.

We are really looking forward to having you join us for this conversation! Come ready to share your ideas, listen to others and perhaps take away a few new ideas that you can try in your own school or community. We can't wait to see what small steps you are taking and the big impact you hope they can make!

Pre-work:

1. Choose one everyday sustainability habit.
2. Find out why it matters and what impact it could have.
3. Prepare a short response to: My small step is…I chose it because… The impact I hope it will have is….
4. Prepare one question to ask students from another participating school
5. Bring one photograph or visual representing their chosen "small step" to share during the session.
